

Cookie Policy and Google Analytics

Cookie Policy

We may collect information about your computer, including where available your IP address, operating system and browser type, for system administration. This is statistical data about our user's browsing actions and patterns, and does not identify any individual.

For the same reason, we and third parties such as Google, may obtain information about your general internet usage by using a cookie file which is stored on the hard drive of your computer. Cookies contain information that is transferred to your computer's hard drive. They help us to improve Our Site and to deliver a better and more personalised service.

They enable us to:

- Estimate our audience size and usage pattern
- Store information about your preferences, and so allow us to customise our site according to your individual interests
- Speed up your searches
- Recognise you when you return to our site.

You may refuse to accept cookies by activating the setting on your browser which allows you to refuse the setting of all or some cookies. However, if you select this setting you may be unable to access certain parts of Our Site. Unless you have adjusted your browser setting so that it will refuse cookies, our system may issue cookies when you access Our Site.

Google Analytics

Our Site uses Google Analytics, a web analysis service of Google Inc. ("Google"). Google Analytics uses so-called "cookies," text files that are saved on your computer, which allow for an analysis of your navigation in our website.

The cookie-generated information about your use of our website (including your IP-address) is transmitted to a Google server and saved there. Google uses this information to evaluate your utilisation of the website for the purpose of compiling reports on the website activities for us and to provide other services associated with website use and Internet use. Google may transmit this information to third parties if required by law or if such third parties process the data on behalf of Google. Under no circumstances will Google combine your IP address with other data.

You may prevent the installation of cookies with the corresponding settings in your browser software; please be aware that you may not be able to fully use all functions of this website in that case. By using this website, you declare your consent with the processing of the data compiled about you by Google in the manner and for the purpose described above.